

Department of
Psychological and Behavioural Science

EXECUTIVE MSc
BEHAVIOURAL SCIENCE

UNDERSTANDING BEHAVIOUR IN A CHANGING WORLD

Designed for working professionals across diverse sectors, LSE's Executive MSc Behavioural Science combines rigorous academic training with practical insight.

Taught by world-leading experts and practitioners, you will learn how to apply behavioural insights to solve policy, business, organisational and societal challenges.

Whether you work in the public, private or third sector, you'll build specialist knowledge and discover practical applications that can open new professional opportunities in this fast-growing field.

CONTACT US

pbs.emsc@lse.ac.uk

For more information, please visit lse.ac.uk/pbs/emsc

Department of Psychological and
Behavioural Science

EXECUTIVE MSc BEHAVIOURAL SCIENCE

A PROGRAMME DESIGNED AROUND YOUR CAREER

The Executive MSc is designed to fit around a busy career. It offers full-time professionals from anywhere in the world the opportunity to study flexibly while continuing to work.

The 16-month programme begins each September and is delivered through three intensive two-week teaching sessions at LSE's London campus, with independent study and assignments between sessions. Outside the teaching blocks, you can continue to live and work in the UK or overseas. After the taught component, you will complete a dissertation on a topic of your choice, with support from an academic supervisor.

The curriculum covers a broad range of courses, including:

- Behavioural Science and Policy
- Behavioural Decision Science
- Research Methods for Behavioural Science
- Frontiers in Behavioural Science Methods
- Policy Appraisal and Ethics
- Behavioural Science in an Age of AI and New Technology
- Corporate Behaviour and Decision Making
- The Science of Time at Work
- Beyond Nudging: The Frontiers of Behavioural Science in a Complex World.

Please note that, while this information is correct at the time of publication, the School may on occasion need to change, suspend or withdraw a course.

CONTACT US

pbs.emsc@lse.ac.uk

For more information, please visit lse.ac.uk/pbs/emsc

Department of
Psychological and Behavioural Science

A GLOBAL COMMUNITY OF PROFESSIONALS

Our students come from a wide range of professional, academic and geographical backgrounds, creating a diverse international cohort. They bring perspectives from different sectors, disciplines and career stages, enriching discussion throughout the programme. United by a shared interest in behavioural science and its real-world application, they also become part of a global network of peers and alumni that extends well beyond the classroom.

It was a genuinely rewarding experience, with a fantastic global cohort, that continues to bring tangible value to my daily work. ”

Sarah, 2025 graduate

The programme has given me the confidence to challenge the ways things have typically been done to reach more meaningful, impactful outcomes. ”

Lucy, 2024 graduate

The Executive MSc in Behavioural Science couples the dynamism of the LSE learning environment with an engaging and multifaceted curriculum, all under the tutelage of world-class academics. ”

Mike, 2025 graduate

The Executive MSc in Behavioural Science has been a game-changer for me. By deepening my understanding of human behaviour, I can now design and implement impactful, evidence-based initiatives that drive transformational change. ”

Fadzi, 2024 graduate

I've gained a deeper understanding of how to design targeted, evidence-based interventions that produce tangible, lasting behavioural shifts. ”

Kele, 2025 graduate

CONTACT US

pbs.emsc@lse.ac.uk

For more information, please visit lse.ac.uk/pbs/emsc